Description

Tucked beneath a canopy of trees and cradled by the Blue Ridge Mountains, this storybook cottage feels like something out of a mountain dream. With big windows framing long views and sunlight streaming in from every angle, it's hard not to pause and just breathe. Perched in the heart of The Rock at Jocassee—just across from the clubhouse—this home gives you front-row access to some of the Upstate's best outdoor living. Whether you're spending the afternoon on the golf course, exploring nearby lakes like Keowee and Jocassee, or heading out for a hike, adventure is always just minutes away. Inside, the layout unfolds like a peaceful retreat. Each floor includes a bedroom, giving you the option to make either level your primary suite. A cozy gas fireplace anchors the living room, while the sunroom invites slow mornings with coffee and a book. The rec room downstairs gives space for games, guests, or a rainy-day movie marathon, and the loft sitting area adds another spot to take in the views. Included in your mountain escape are lots of updates including the fireplace and flooring. Turn on the gas logs and cozy up. Cooler evenings are normal here! And let's not forget the detached two-car garage—perfect for storing kayaks, clubs, or your weekend project supplies. Whether you're here full time or just looking for a getaway, this is a rare chance to find a mountain home that lays well, lives large, and surrounds you with everything you love about the outdoors.
