Description

This stately Victorian masterpiece c. 1878 is beautifully updated, well maintained and located on a serene, desirable street. Sitting on high ground and well elevated out of the flood zone, this property offers a grand and expansive piece of downtown Charleston charm. Located South of Broad with double piazzas and period details inside and out, this property is sure to delight the discerning home buyer with functional French doors, historic mouldings, soaring ceilings and gracious room sizes. A full renovation has been undertaken in key areas including bathrooms, new copper roof and gutters, new elevator which accesses all floors from the ground level and other major systems. The stunning kitchen renovation included all new appliances, countertops and cabinets and offers an expansive space for the true entertainer. Off the kitchen is a comfortable den to complement the more formal dining and living rooms in the front of the home. To the rear is a nice office nook, main formal powder room and elevator access. Located beyond the elevator is an entrance to the separate apartment which features a second kitchen, powder bath, living room and two bedrooms with full bath upstairs. A staircase downstairs leads to a large unfinished storage area below the home with full head height - perfect for storage of holiday décor, bikes, and beach gear. The second floor of the main house provides very comfortable guest rooms and a sizeable master. In the rear of the main house is a fully handicapped accessible guest suite accessed off the elevator and the front guest room has a roomy bathroom and direct porch access. The renovated master bath features a soaking tub, dual vanities and very generous walk in closet. Outside, ample parking for multiple cars complements stunning formal gardens including traditional front, rear and side garden rooms. A calming fountain offers a serene centerpiece for this private sun-dappled area. This property provides quiet comforts and a gracious lifestyle with its generous room sizes and stunning historic details. Well cared for, thoughtfully updated and ready for your personal touches, this property is sure to delight the most discerning buyers seeking the idyllic South of Broad lifestyle.
