Description

The marvel of Meggett, where modern comfort meets Southern charm, and where this sprawling 4,800 square-foot estate doesn't just stand--it practically winks at you. Welcome to the not-so-humble abode where Mother Nature is the next-door neighbor, and the Stono River gives a gentle nod. Upgraded so much, it shrugged off the floodplain like last year's fashion, this abode is where high-tech hugs rustic chic. If chic lived in a castle. A sun-worshipper's delight, the estate flaunts a 40kW solar panel system so efficient, it's paid for its own suntan. And for those days when the sun plays hard to get, and the town stops sending you power, a whole-house Generac backup system stands ready to light up your life. But wait, there's more! Fancy a tippie? Stroll through the newly added -See More--Cont---Stroll through the newly added wine-tasting hall, but let's call it what it really is a mead hall where Thor himself might hammer down a drink or two. And the water? As pure as Norwegian springs, thanks to the new RODI water filtration system. Relax on the new porch, where the evening's entertainment might include a symphony of crickets or the soft serenade of the wind through the trees. A six-car garage awaits your fleet, and if you have a Mother-in-Law or guests in tow, rest assured there's a suite for her and an attached guest house both additions from 2020, bridged by a breezeway that's just far enough away to act like you aren't home. They will never know. Or just swap out family for rent checks. It's up to you.((This is a house that's thought of everything electric fireplaces ready to revert to wood-burning if you desire the crackle and pop of a real fire, a home vacuum system that sucks up dirt like a black hole, and a speaker system that ensures your life's soundtrack is always on cue. The master bedroom offers a fireplace for nights that call for an extra flicker of romance. The faucets? Only the finest Wolverine brass, because every drop of water should fall like a kiss from Valhalla. And let's talk about doors the upgraded kind, with knobs and hinges so sleek, they could double as modern art in a King's castle. The tally of conveniences reads like a grocery list of luxury and survivalist prep: three homes under one title, five bedrooms in the main, and baths galore: three in the main, two and a half in the guest, and another full suite for the mother-in-law. Settled in Meggett, SC, just a whisper away from the Stono River, this home is an escape, a sanctuary, and a stage for life's greatest moments. It's where luxury doesn't shout, it whispers in the details. This isn't just a house; it's the main character in the charming story of your life. It's what you would do, only better. Daring you to improve it.
