Description

Living in a popular and prominent city, it is rare for one to find an eloquent condo nestled in a downtown residential neighborhood. One level, fifteen years old, this Condo is located in the desirable historical district. The building entrance fronts Simonton Park and upon entering the lobby, the elevator will take you to the third floor into your private entrance. The vestibule leads into a very large all-purpose living area with a well equipped kitchen accommodated with an island for storage and dining. The most desirable location in the house is the private porch adjacent to the living and kitchen, where the views of the city and the Ravenel Bridge are unrivaled. Down the hall there is a powder room and half bath and leads to the two bedrooms each with an ensuite bath and ample closets. There is a stairwell with storage that will take you down to your garage. This trendy area is a short walk from five star restaurants, irresistible shopping and is only a few blocks from the College of Charleston. Beaches are twenty minutes away and there are countless things to see and do!
